NOTES

You have here a full account of my finances. I have no other assets or properties. I have one personal savings account and one personal checking account. For funds to be used for ISKCON and the BBT, I am also a signer on a BTG checking account, a BTG savings account, and a BTG PayPal account. By law, the BTG funds can be used only for nonprofit purposes, not for my personal benefit. For India I am using a PayTM account belonging to my assistant Pravina Krishna Dasa to handle Indian rupees. The tallies for all these accounts are included in this report.

The larger the balances, the more strictly an account should be safeguarded. Therefore, the savings and checking accounts, with their moderate balances, are jointly overseen by me and my disciple Madhupati Dasa. For practical reasons the Indian PayTM account is overseen by my disciple Pravina Krishna Dasa. And the BTG accounts, with their higher balances, are overseen by me and Kapila Dasa, the BTG treasurer, who is responsible to the BTG board. The PayPal account (though its balances are small) is overseen the same way. BTG's accounts are also periodically audited by the BBT International.

Though I have a debit card that draws on one BTG account, I use the card only for deposits, not withdrawals. I have no other cards that draw on accounts of the BBT, BTG, ISKCON, or any other such organization. All charges to my cards are included in this report.

When I receive a contribution and give it on the same day to the Deity at a Krishna temple, I sometimes record neither the income nor the expense.

For a brief discussion of Ahimsa Balancing, please see my article "Introducing Ahimsa Balancing": <http://www.jswami.info/introducing-ahi>

"Donations from non-disciples" and "donations from disciples" each includes $2,175.11 that should have been accounted for in last year's report but wasn't.

The “account adjustments” reflect difficulties I had this year in dealing with cash. I try to put cash into a bank account swiftly. But when I travel abroad I sometimes have a hard time keeping track of cash that goes in and out. Having an expense of $1,233 I can’t account for is an embarrassing failure. I will try to do better

For technical reasons related to software, not all currency exchange rates used for this report are up to date.

Except as noted above, this report represents a true and accurate statement of my financial activity and status for the previous year.

COVER LETTER

Brisbane, Australia

23 January 2025

Dear Friends and Devotees,

For the sake of personal financial accountability and transparency, since 2002 I have published an annual account of my finances. I here publish my finances for the past year.

This is not an account of my personal income and expenses, especially not in any legal sense. Rather, it is an account of money that has passed through my hands (and some that is still in them).

The term “transfers” for money I have given to ISKCON or the BBT reflects the understanding that this money was not mine but was intended for ISKCON or the BBT all along. Often, in fact, the money came in the form of checks made out to ISKCON, BTG, the BBT, or a related organization, and all I did was receive them and pass them on. Or else the funds went straight from the donor to a BTG account where I guide the use of the funds.

In any case, I believe that all these funds ought to be accounted for and that the accounts ought to be available to whoever may find them of interest. And so I am making them public.

My thanks to all the devotees who contributed donations. I am grateful for the donations themselves but still more for your generosity and kindness.

I pray for the blessings of all well-wishing friends and all devotees of Krishna that anything I receive by the grace of Krishna may always be properly offered for Krishna's devotional service.

Hare Krishna.

Your servant,
Jayadvaita Swami
